

Administrative Transformation & Organizational Restructuring

Case study for [Weber for building supplies] diagnose centralization issues and propose practical, measurable reforms

Problem Statement — Why change is urgent

Symptoms

Slow approvals · repeated customer complaints · high pressure on senior leaders

Root cause

Excessive centralization · unclear authority lines · weak mid-management empowerment

Strategic consequence

Stalled growth, lower employee initiative, eroding service quality

Goals & Key Indicators

1

Reduce approval time

Target: -30–40% in processing time

2

Cut turnover

Target: under 8% annual rate

3

Raise customer satisfaction

Continuous surveys → steady upward trend

4

Improve margins

Target: +1–2% yearly

Recommended Restructuring Actions

Empower middle management

Clear decision limits, training, accountability

Measure & link

Regular performance metrics tied to responsibilities

Enhance internal communication

Horizontal channels, cross-functional forums

Balanced delegation

Delegate authority + retain oversight — staged rollout

Change Process — Phased Roadmap

Phased, measurable, low-risk: pilot → evaluate → scale. Annual structural review.

Risks & Mitigations

Resistance to change

Mitigate: engagement, clear
rationale,
leadership coalition

Over-delegation

Mitigate: defined limits, approval
gates, escalation paths

Temporary dip in performance

Mitigate: staged pilots, buffer resources, close monitoring

Theoretical Fit & Cultural Shift

Combines classical management functions with participative leadership and change management principles: urgency → coalition → empowerment → cultural embedding.

Projected Impact (Before → After)

Illustrative projection if recommendations implemented and monitored.

Quick True/False Quiz — Key Concepts

- Centralization speeds decisions

FALSE — often causes delays

- Transformation doesn't affect employee satisfaction

FALSE — has direct impact on motivation

- Delegation empowers middle managers

TRUE — distributes responsibility and speeds response

- Participative leadership improves cross-departmental communication

TRUE — fosters inclusion in decision making

Concise Recommendation & Next Steps

Recommendation: Implement balanced delegation + participative leadership; start with a 3-month pilot in 2 units, deploy KPI dashboard, schedule quarterly audits.

- Define decision limits for middle managers
- Launch training & coaching program
- Deploy performance dashboard (monthly reviews)
- Annual structural review cycle

❏ Next meeting: present pilot plan and KPIs to executive team. Timeline: 90-day pilot → 6-month review → scale.